PROJECTS

Cadabra (Flask, ReactJS, Redux, SQLAlchemy, PostgreSQL, CSS, Sass, Heroku)

live | github

An Amazon-inspired ecommerce web application that retrieves and displays product information from a database to a smooth and modernly designed user interface.

- Produced smooth and modern UI design utilizing pure CSS and Sass conventions.
- Utilized Werkzeug hashing generator package and CSRF tokens appended to form requests to store encrypted user passwords in the user database model and to strengthen application security.
- Implemented speedy search and filter functionality by leveraging the Redux store and reducing API calls to the database to retrieve products through saving state in local storage.

BlueJay (Flask, ReactJS, Redux, React-Stockcharts, SQLAlchemy, PostgreSQL, CSS, Heroku)

live | github

A cryptocurrency portfolio site that dynamically and graphically displays candlestick data as well as allows the user to track historical stock data.

- Constructed a dynamically changing stock simulation that utilizes dispatching to the redux store to update a virtual bank, allowing users to simulate a buy / sell stock transaction and gain knowledge of stock trading.
- Implemented the D3-DSV parsing library to format JSON crypto currency historical data from the Coingecko API into CSV data served up to the React-Stockcharts candlestick graph to dynamically and swiftly display upon user request.
- Coordinated with a team managing pr branches on Github as result of proper planning and deliberation of features.

Trackerfy (Express, ReactJS, Redux, RBAC, Sequelize, PostgreSQL, CSS, Heroku)

live | github

A bug / issue tracker site that follows scrum practices, organizing roles and tickets produced by a project development team.

- Administered role-based access control to allot permissions based on role to ensure certain resources aren't viewed without sufficient access.
- Achieved CRUD operations for new and expired employees, roles, tickets, and projects.
- Incorporated front end and back end user authentication by applying React higher order components, protected routes, and JSON web tokens, protecting API endpoints.
- Configured Express backend to comply with PostgreSQL, using the Sequelize ORM, as well as, extensive error and request handling to catch and handle several status codes, including: 201, 500, and 401.
